

From Super Lawyers News — for Immediate Release

Eve Rachel Markewich, Lawrence Rosenstock of Markewich and Rosenstock LLP named to Super Lawyers

MINNEAPOLIS — Nov. 13, 2009: Minneapolis-based Law & Politics, publishers of Super Lawyers magazines, announced that New York litigators Eve Rachel Markewich and Lawrence Rosenstock of Markewich and Rosenstock LLP have been named to the 2009 edition of New York Metro Super Lawyers. Each year, no more than 5 percent of the lawyers in the state receive this honor.

Markewich and Rosenstock have worked together for over 20 years, first as litigation partners in a major national law firm, and now as founders of their own firm — representing individuals as well as large corporations in business and commercial matters, real estate and trust and estate litigation.

Eve Rachel Markewich, who has been named to Super Lawyers for four consecutive years, specializes in business and trust litigation. She is also a successful appellate attorney. With more than 20 years of experience, she has tried cases in the Surrogate's and Supreme Courts of New York State, as well as in federal courts. When possible she focuses on non-litigation resolutions.

"Our research editors gave Ms. Markewich high marks for her litigation record in the areas of trust, estates and business," says Bill White, publisher of Super Lawyers and Law & Politics magazines.

Markewich has tried contested probate matters, accounting proceedings, contract disputes and business matters. She has written and lectured extensively on trust and estate and other litigation matters. In addition to authoring many articles on legal practice, Markewich has also served as faculty for numerous legal education programs. Markewich is an active member of her community, and a former vice chair of a national nonprofit organization. She is also vice chair of the Estate Litigation Committee of the New York State Bar Association.

This is Lawrence Rosenstock's third year being named to Super Lawyers. He has more than 30 years of experience in the areas of general and business litigation which includes contract, partnership and corporate disputes as well as real estate and insurance matters. Rosenstock has extensive trial and appellate experience in state and federal courts including overturning precedent in the New York Court of Appeals.

"Our research editors were impressed not only with Mr. Rosenstock's record as a veteran litigator, but also with his contributions of time and skill to various civic and professional matters," says White.

Like his partner Eve Rachel Markewich, Rosenstock also is experienced in Surrogate's Court practice. He also has an extensive background in business fraud and commercial bribery matters.

Rosenstock was an associate editor of the Annual Survey of American Law and has lectured on litigation issues and strategies. As Democratic district leader on the Upper East Side of Manhattan, he is heavily involved in community affairs and sits on the judiciary committee of the New York County Democratic Party Executive Committee.

The list of attorneys selected to New York Metro Super Lawyers appears in the October issue of New York Super Lawyers Metro Edition and the Oct. 4, 2009 issue of the New York Times magazine.

Super Lawyers recognizes outstanding attorneys in more than 70 areas of practice using a rigorous, multiphase selection process that considers 15 separate indicators of peer recognition, professional achievement and high ethical standards.

"In law school, if you finish in the top 10 percent of your class, you graduate with honors and it's a big deal," says Bill White, publisher of Super Lawyers and Law & Politics magazines. "But with Super Lawyers, we select only five percent of the entire profession. These lawyers represent the cream of the crop."

Founded in 1990, Law & Politics has been publishing annual Super Lawyers lists since 1991. Super Lawyers is published in 50 states and the District of Columbia by Law & Politics, a division of Key Professional Media, Inc., which is owned by Vance Opperman, the former president of West Publishing.
